

Institutional Distinctiveness

Institutional Natural Heritage and Aiming for Environmental Sustainability

B.H.B. College, Sarupeta was established by the initiation of the local community and is located in a region populated by ethnically and culturally varied people. This gives it a distinct identity. The impact of modernization is leading to diminution of cultural heritage and natural resources. The need to conserve nature and natural heritage has risen as a result of the intense strain being placed on nature and natural resources. The protection of various objects as historical relics at the College "Rural Museum" is just the beginning of the college's many varied endeavours to preserve cultural heritage. Along with cultural heritage, the conservation of natural heritage has been added to concept of Conservation which is further prompted by the deteriorating environmental conditions in and around the region, which is likewise rich in biodiversity.

1. Introduction

B.H.B. College is located in Barpeta district amidst the three mouzas namely Bhawanipur, Hastinapur and Bijni. The college is spread in an area of 68 bighas and only of the land contains infrastructures used for academic and co-curricular activities. The college is located in a rural community and most of the population of the surrounding area is depended on agriculture. Therefore, the college has over the years decided to adopt a sustainable approach for the development of the neighbouring community. To attain this, the college has opened different skill-based and add-on courses that will enable the students to develop a sustainable approach. The skill-based courses like Vermicompost and Mushroom Cultivation have been introduced in 2016 and 2021, respectively. The objective for introducing these courses is to improve the quality of the soil, produce organic food products and to ensure that the students who are enrolled in the programmes get the scope to learn sustainable agricultural farming.

The college is surrounded by a variety of flora. Over the years, the institute has conducted numerous plantation programmes. The college has 7 gardens which include flower gardens, medicinal garden and fruit and vegetable garden. The flowers and plants in the college campus enrich the environment and help in the maintenance of ecology of the area.

Objective:

- To assess the nature and the type of vegetation suitable for the area
- To identify the variety of plants available in the area
- To assess the cultivation of mushroom and its process of cultivation
- To assess the process of vermicompost production and its usage
- To identify the variety of birds available in the area.

Methodology:

- Generation of primary data by systematic ecological study of the area.
- Discussion with the course conveners and gardener to elicit information regarding the variety of plants available, vermicomposting process and mushroom cultivation.

Institutional efforts for Reducing Environmental Depletion:

The institution minimizes the use of single-use plastics and uses bamboo baskets made by villages from nearby areas. Plantation programmes are conducted often in the college and efforts are taken to maintain the planted plants. The college has 6 gardens, one medicinal garden, one fruit and vegetable garden and four flower gardens.

Sustainable Development Initiatives Taken by the College

The two skill Based courses by NIELIT, namely 'Basics of Electrification and Solar Power Technologies' and Solar Power Installation, Operation and Maintenance' offered in the college promotes the use of alternative source of energy. Mushroom Cultivation course is adopted by the ASDM under Assam State Government Mushroom Growers in 2023 and Vermicomposting course offers the concept of organic farming and entrepreneurship for the students and the community members.

Solar Charge Controller

NSS Special Camp:

The NSS unit conducted a special camp in the adopted village of Puran Bhawanipur in 2022. The volunteers planted several trees that are maintained with the help of the villagers. Cleanliness drives, leveling of the roads and construction of makeshift public toilets were done by the NSS volunteers for the village community.

Institutionalizing Cultural Conservation

The college endeavours to conserve the fading consciousness of the cultural heritage of its nearby areas by focusing on conducting field trips. A field trip to Boiragi Than and Gopal Ata Than was undertaken by the Assamese Department

The library of the college has undertaken the significant project of preserving the Shansi paat manuscripts of Sankardev and Madhavdev of Bishnupur Satra by digitising some of the manuscripts. The manuscripts are rare relics of cultural heritage and only a copy of these manuscripts exists.
