

Copyright Policy

Uddipan: A Multidisciplinary, Bilingual Journal is committed to maintaining ethical publication practices and protecting the intellectual rights of authors while ensuring wider academic dissemination of scholarly works.

Copyright Ownership

Authors retain the copyright of their published work. By submitting and publishing their manuscripts in the journal, authors grant the journal the right to publish, reproduce, archive, and distribute the work in print and electronic formats for academic and non-commercial purposes.

Originality of Work

Authors must ensure that:

- The submitted manuscript is original and unpublished.
- The work has not been submitted simultaneously to any other journal or publication.
- All sources, references, quotations, and borrowed materials are properly acknowledged.
- The manuscript does not contain plagiarism, fabricated data, or unethical content.

Any form of academic misconduct may lead to rejection or withdrawal of the article.

Author Responsibility

The opinions, interpretations, and arguments expressed in published articles are solely those of the author(s). The journal, Editorial Board, and publisher shall not be held responsible for any claims or views expressed in the published works.

Authors are solely responsible for:

- Accuracy of facts and references
- Ethical integrity of the research
- Obtaining permissions for copyrighted materials, images, tables, or illustrations wherever required

Reproduction and Distribution

No part of the journal may be reproduced, stored, or transmitted in any form without proper acknowledgement of the source and author. Readers and researchers may use published materials for academic and research purposes with appropriate citation.

Editorial Rights

The Editorial Board reserves the right to:

- Edit manuscripts for language, style, clarity, and formatting
- Reject or retract articles found violating publication ethics
- Remove published content in cases of proven academic misconduct
